I promise to share the joy, see the world through joyful eyes, to find the beauty in everything, appreciate everyone, and let happiness be my guide. To hug strangers along the way, hold dearly onto their stories and have the courage to let go of my own. To find one another, to feel, and to let joy surround me.

This is my pledge, join me.